

AP HUMAN GEOGRAPHY STUDY SESSIONS

Dear APHG Students,

The Advanced Placement Human Geography Exam will be given on Friday, May 13th. To prepare for this challenging test, I am offering study sessions to all APHG students. These sessions will be designed to review the key points in each of the APHG units. While these sessions are optional, it is important to know that they will provide you with valuable knowledge necessary for success, and will be an additional study tool as you prepare for the test. Choosing not to attend the sessions will result in a lower test score!

Bring note-taking material. Sessions will be held in my room (2600). There will be two-session options either in the afternoon at 3:45-4:45, or in the morning 7:05-8:05. We will start promptly, so arrive on time!

I will provide you with practice tests and practice FRQ's and information on how the exam is scored.

I have study materials and a game available as study tools. Go to 1450 to check out a textbook to study for the exam if you didn't keep yours.
